AWARD - WINNING INTERVIEWER, HOST, & PRODUCER

When it comes to connecting to the hearts of audiences, you must be relatable, transparent, honest...and quite frankly you have to know what you're talking about. Angel N. Livas marries her tremendous life experiences with her spiritual compass to guide others through managing life on and off the clock. Her direct nature draws audiences, but her keen story-telling captures their attention and provokes them to take action. She's so much more than a speaker, author, or multi-media host... she's a connector... helping everyone draw closer to their dreams.

Angel N. Livas is an international best-selling author, TEDX Speaker, and award-winning host, director and producer. She is the current producer of the hit podcast Under Construction w/ Tamar Braxton. Today, she equips men and women with the tools they need to feel #ALIVE by building Courage, Conquering adversity, and being a Catalyst for change. "These are the necessary ingredients to walk in one's purpose and be #ALIVE," says Angel.

Before embarking upon her entrepreneurial journey, Angel oversaw six-nationally syndicated talk-radio shows, which included producing programming for award-winning celebrity hosts Jane Pauley and the late Larry King.

Today, she uses storytelling as a tool to connect to the hearts of audiences as she graces global stages from Accra, Ghana, to moderating conversations throughout the Caribbean.

Angel's energetic spirit is infectious! She has stellar communication and interpersonal abilities, especially when working with high profile individuals (celebrities, politicians). I have watched her bring calmness to chaos and enthusiasm to dull, dry situations. Angel definitely brings a level of richness to any environment and I have thoroughly enjoyed my interactions with her.

Angel moderated a panel I was on as part of the Stevie Awards Women's Future Conference. Working with her was a dream. She was professional, organized and thoughtful leading up to the conference. The day of the panel, she asked great questions of each panel member and kept the conversation flowing to ensure we all were able to contribute to the conversation in the best possible way. I'm excited to collaborate with Angel again in the future!
